Mount Scopus Memorial College

2013 Annual Report

“I am honoured to be associated with a great and good people who have done so much for this country and the wider world.....and with this celebration of culture, faith, learning and philanthropy.”

The Hon Tony Abbott MP
Prime Minister of Australia

Scopus Foundation
Celebration Dinner

Celebrating Support,
Commitment and Achievement

A Tribute to Scopus, the Foundation and Solomon Lew.

When the Hon Tony Abbott MP, Prime Minister, agreed to be the Guest of Honour for the Foundation Celebration Dinner – and so soon after his government’s election - it was an enormous tribute to Mount Scopus College.

Celebrating support, commitment and achievement, the evening was enjoyed by 400 guests, comprising Foundation members, Ambassador-Designate Shmuel Ben-Shmuel, parliamentarians, staff and students. And was yet another event generously hosted by Rosie and Solomon Lew and their family.

Elements of this warmth-filled evening included a student choir, inspirational speeches, a motivational DVD and recognition of benefactors – and the announcement that after 26 years at the helm of the Foundation and the raising of $46 million, Solomon Lew was stepping down as Chairman.

As Foundation President, Henry Lanzer, remarked “It is truly the end of an era – an era we will all remember fondly and appreciatively, and one that epitomises support, commitment and achievement.”

Henry was delighted to acknowledge a new gift of $1 million dollars by the Lew family – an affirmation of their ongoing support and involvement. In recognition of their immeasurable contribution to the lives of generations of students, the secondary school of Mount Scopus College will now be known as the Lew Family Secondary School.

We also celebrated a new $1 million gift by Eva and Marc Besen, which further demonstrates their continuing support and understanding of the importance of the College for our community.

Mike Smith, on behalf of ANZ, and the Fink Karp Ivany Family were proudly recognised at Life Trustee level, and Sue and Michael Karp as recipients of the Leon Fink Memorial Award for Commitment to Jewish Education.

We thank all our donors and especially welcome new members along with those who reconfirmed their support in the short lead up time to the Dinner.

More than $3.5 million was raised in 3 weeks! Our dedicated Executive’s outreach is ongoing – please consider adding your family’s support.

Awarding our Life Trustees – Lisa Kennett, Henry Lanzer, Prime Minister Tony Abbott, Sue Karp for the Fink Karp Ivany Family, Solomon Lew and Michael Smith, CEO, for ANZ

"The Time has Come..."

So began retiring Chairman, Solomon Lew, as he took the microphone at the recent Foundation Celebration Dinner. He added "I wouldn't have swapped the experience with anything".

He continued by recalling that when he agreed to become the Chairman it was with a deep desire to make a difference to his school, and that of his children, and understanding the importance of a strong and successful Scopus. "And I knew the College had to be well supported – perhaps at a level not seen before – to achieve all its goals.

"26 years and $46 million dollars later, and with my grandchildren now at the College, I know and see the great impact our Foundation supporters have made and I feel very proud to have been involved."

Remarking that he felt privileged to have worked alongside the very best, he thanked former Presidents David Smorgon and Dug Pomeroy and noted the contributions of the first Vice-Presidents, the late Leon Liberman, and Roy Tashi. He also fondly remembered the late Roslyn Smorgon.

He continued "one of my greatest pleasures has been the opportunity to work in partnership with Henry Lanzer, the Foundation's tireless President, for the past 17 years. With the support of Janette and his family, Henry has committed extraordinary amounts of time, expertise and energy to progress the Foundation and the College. His dedication is simply unparalleled and thousands of students have reaped the rewards of his efforts. Henry, the College, and the community, is truly blessed to have your deep commitment."

Expressing his appreciation for the extraordinary contributions of the current Executive, Sol thanked Vice-Presidents Sam Alter and Stewart Baron together with Paul Bassat, Joey Borensztajn, Russell Casper, David Gold, Jack Hansky, Ricky Smorgon, Roy Tashi and Executive Director, Marilyn Simon – and also the retired members.

He stressed that one of the greatest rewards had been the overwhelming support of the generous donors of more than $46 million who have made it possible for Mount Scopus to initiate and implement best educational practise.

And at the same time made it possible for the College to assist with bursaries and fee relief programs which had a direct bearing on how many children could enjoy the Scopus experience.

He continued "You, our Foundation supporters, are an outstanding group of committed individuals and we applaud you for your achievements. You have made a difference not just to Scopus but to the strength and vitality of our community."

Sol concluded with one final thank you for his family. "I could not have carried out this role for so many years without your unwavering support, encouragement and your personal involvement. And I know I can say on your behalf that our family's commitment to Scopus will not cease with my retirement."

President, Henry Lanzer, Reflects

It gave me great pleasure to welcome 400 friends to the recent Foundation Dinner. When preparing my remarks for this special occasion, it caused me to reflect upon our past and the future.

Please allow me to share some of my address:

“When Mount Scopus College opened its doors in 1949, our founders dreamt of a community in which all its children could receive a secular and Jewish education of excellence.

“Today, Mount Scopus College is recognised as one of the leading Jewish Day Schools in the world, something we all tend to take for granted.

“In 1987, when the College leadership wisely established the Foundation, the goals were simple but vital - to provide the funds to advance the school and to secure its future.

“Since then your gifts have funded a multitude of developments and projects, supported innumerable programs, significantly increased Ulpan participation, and brought technology into the hands of our students. Take a walk down the corridors of Scopus and you will see a College that is buzzing with vitality, filled with students broadening their horizons in both the Jewish and the secular worlds.

“And many children are experiencing this unique Scopus education because of your support for bursaries. The College allocates an amazing $2.5 million dollars every year to subsidies, whilst maintaining school fees at a competitive level.

“I wish to acknowledge the dedicated efforts of every member of the Foundation executive, both past and current. I feel privileged to work with these committed and talented individuals, a team that has been singled out in the Australian newspaper as one of the most capable and talented group of individuals around Australia to provide direction and leadership to a school.

“Over 26 years and under Solomon Lew’s chairmanship, the Foundation has raised $46 million dollars!

“Sol, your leadership has been inspirational and every member of the Foundation Executive has felt honoured to work beside you.

“Over the same period, you and Rosie have also hosted a number of major events - including hosting President Clinton, Professor Alan Dershowitz, Prime Minister John Howard and Treasurer Peter Costello. And you have also opened your home to us for countless other functions.

“So it is with enormous appreciation, tinged with a heavy heart, that I announce that after 26 years, Sol will be stepping down tonight from the role of Foundation Chairman.

“It is truly the end of an era - an era we will all remember fondly and appreciatively, and one that epitomises support, commitment and achievement.

“And it is in this spirit that I am delighted to advise that the Lew family has pledged a magnificent new gift of $1 million dollars to the College - an affirmation of their ongoing support and involvement.

“We all understand that the successful delivery of an education of excellence relies on far more than funding alone. Our Principal, Rabbi James Kennard, heads an exemplary team whose commitment is unwavering. They, in turn, are supported by dedicated lay leaders, led by our College President, Lisa Kennett.

“Mount Scopus College is now educating and being supported by successive generations of families. Whilst we genuinely thank and value our traditional donors, it is with the greatest of pleasure that I acknowledge our newest members.

“And just as the next generation comes on board as parents and supporters, so too must our Foundation executive begin a generational change. We must now look to them to become increasingly involved and to lead our College Foundation into the years ahead.

We must continue to fund the physical needs of the College and to invest in staff development and educational programs. But more importantly, we must endeavour to contain the cost of a Jewish education so that significantly more children can be offered the opportunity to participate, which is a challenge for the whole community.

“I am confident that with the continuing support and generosity of our Foundation members we will meet our challenges. Your involvement and generosity demonstrate an understanding that one of our highest priorities is the affordability of a Jewish education.

“Our College has now produced thousands of graduates who are positively contributing to all facets of life. The students of Mount Scopus College look forward to your continuing support - for the leaders of tomorrow are in the classrooms of today.”

Marc and Eva Besen Orchestra Rewarding Performance

At the Foundation Celebration Dinner, special mention was made of the Foundation’s inspirational and visionary supporters, Eva and Marc Besen. Their passion and commitment to the College is exemplary, further evidenced by their new and substantial commitment of $1 million dollars. In honour of their long involvement and generosity and their very special encouragement of the performing arts - and to celebrate Marc’s 90th birthday - we are delighted to name the Scopus school orchestra the ‘Marc and Eva Besen Orchestra’.

Acknowledging our Supporters

Helping us to help others

At our 2012 Annual Evening we were delighted to honour Lee Liberman and her family, acknowledging the establishment of the Leon Liberman Memorial Bursaries.

It was also a pleasure to recognise the partnership with the Ruben Fried Scholarship Fund that will assist children wishing to have a Jewish Day School education.

In 2013 we proudly acknowledge the creation of the Klara Reisberg Memorial Bursary and the Susie and Ephraim Ehrmann Bursary.

We are grateful for the enormous continuing support of Don Marejn for buraries and the Helen and Bori Liberman Family for the Ulpan Program.

A warm welcome and thank you to our new Foundation members

Scopus Values

When I get asked, and it's often, how am I still so passionate about Scopus after so long, it does make me pause and think – but only for one brief moment.

Why wouldn't I be? The length of time has only served to reinforce the motives of old and provide new ones.

With grandchildren now on their Scopus journey, I am able to see firsthand how a Scopus education has strengthened and evolved. The International Baccalaureate Programmes, experiential Jewish life, amazing teaching and learning with technology – all in inspiring environments – contribute to every aspect of their development.

Earlier this year we simplified our mission statement into four easily appreciated and understood Scopus Values: Excellence in Learning; Holistic Development; Jewish Identity and Community and Service. These Values underpin all our objectives and programs. And it's their successful deliverance that is producing the graduates of whom we are so proud, and consequently a stronger Jewish community.

Time has also allowed me to deepen relationships with so many of our supporters, and to shape new ones – something which gives me pleasure every day.

And in much the same way, I have been able to more deeply appreciate the commitment of the members of the Foundation Executive and their support and friendship.

There is no doubt Scopus Values provide the motivation for many people who contribute so much.

I thank everybody who inspires and fuels my passion – the school leadership, my colleagues, all Scopus volunteers, especially our dedicated Foundation Executive, and you, our generous Foundation supporters.

There has been much said and written about the enormous legacy of retiring Chairman, Solomon Lew. Sol, may I add to these tributes my appreciation for your personal encouragement and support – you've added an undeniable richness to my work.

When addressing our Year 12 students recently at their Graduation Ball, Rabbi Kennard reminded them “We need to value ourselves because of who we are, and because of what we can do. You will not be defined by what you have, but by what you give.”

I can think of no better ‘value’ by which to live our lives and to sustain my passion for Scopus.

Scopus Values your Legacy

A Bequest in your Will is one of the simplest ways to show your support and perhaps at a level not possible during your lifetime.

Will your Bequest make a difference?

Most definitely. Every Bequest, large or small, will make a unique contribution to our students, the school, and ultimately, to our community.

Thoughtful and significant Bequests recently have created the Helene and Paul Kohn Bursaries and the Herta and Roman Scherer Bursaries and will be their everlasting legacies.

How do you make a Bequest to Scopus?

After considering the needs of your family, we encourage you to provide for our future by making Scopus a beneficiary of your Will. Adding a codicil to an existing Will may be the easiest option. We suggest you consult your solicitor or ask us for assistance.

What form may your Bequest take?

- A specific sum of money
- A percentage of your Estate or the residue of your Estate
- A specific asset, such as property or shares
- Articles of value, such as art work

How will your Bequest be used?

Unless you direct otherwise, your Bequest will be managed by the Mount Scopus College Foundation which provides for

- subsidised tuition fees for students who would otherwise be excluded
- scholarships
- additional programs
- development of facilities

or you may identify a specific purpose.

Should you advise your intentions?

By informing us, we are able to show our appreciation during your lifetime, and perhaps work with you to decide the direction for your Bequest.

All Bequests are acknowledged on our Bequest Honour Board and in the Foundation Annual Report.

We express our heartfelt appreciation to the people from whose Estate the College has benefited and to those who have recently included Mount Scopus College as a beneficiary in their Will.

If you are considering making Mount Scopus College a beneficiary of your Estate in any way, please call Marilyn Simon, Foundation Executive Director, who can provide the correct wording for insertion in your Will, or perhaps suggest a solicitor. It is our pleasure, when advised of a proposed Bequest, to acknowledge and honour the donor during their lifetime. For any information please call Marilyn Simon on (03) 9834 0033.

Mount Scopus College Foundation

Why was it established?

Created in 1987, the Foundation is responsible for major fundraising to advance the College. Through the generosity of its members and dedicated volunteers, it has raised pledges in excess of $46,000,000. Bequests are also warmly welcomed.

Funds have been applied to campus renewal, an endowment fund, tuition fee relief, and a multitude of programs. Without Foundation support the College would be unable to provide new facilities or provide the high level of bursaries.

How is it managed?

The goals of the Foundation are pursued by an Executive Committee in consultation with the Principal, College President and College Executive.

Who can be members?

Members include corporations, individuals and families at every level and from every sector of the community. Classifications of membership are dependent on gift level. Entry level requires a pledge of $20,000 which may be paid over a term.

Dedication opportunities

There are always opportunities to match a donor's area of interest with the school's needs. Many attractive dedication possibilities are available to honour your family.

Is your donation tax deductible?

The Mount Scopus College Foundation, the Mount Scopus College Scholarship Fund and the Mount Scopus College School Building Fund are all tax deductible entities.

Residents of the United States may donate and receive an IRS deduction by giving through the British Schools and Universities Foundation, Inc (BSUF), for which we thank them.

We thank our Foundation supporters whose generosity provides

- New and redeveloped learning environments
- Sport and recreational areas
- Kitchen Garden Project
- Advances in technology
- Fee relief programs to minimise increases and to provide assistance
- Israel Experience Program (Ulpan) scholarships, bursaries and awards
- General scholarships, bursaries and awards
- Support for performing and visual arts, informal Jewish education programs
- Alumni and Archive programs
